

CALL FOR NOMINATIONS

2022 Range Science Education Council-Society for Range Management

OUTSTANDING UNDERGRADUATE TEACHING AWARD and EARLY CAREER UNDERGRADUATE TEACHING AWARD

Just admit it...you KNOW there is at least one, very special person who is an excellent undergraduate Range Science teacher who you should nominate for an award! This individual may have inspired you to become a Range Science professional. Maybe they ensured you spent valuable learning time in the field or went out of their way to make sure you could attend the Society for Range Management meetings. Or, perhaps they came up with new and different, creative and effective ways to continue teaching during COVID-19. Please nominate that person for one of the Range Science Education Council's teaching awards. This is a wonderful way to recognize and honor someone who has made a difference in your professional career!

The 2022 Range Science Education Council (RSEC) Teaching Awards will be presented at the 2022 SRM Annual Meeting!

- The Outstanding Undergraduate Teaching Award recognizes excellence in teaching and advising that has extended over the course of many years. RSEC would love to present this award to 2 recipients in 2022!
- The Early Career Undergraduate Teaching Award recognizes excellence in teaching and advising Range Management students by faculty/instructors in the early stages of their teaching careers (less than 10 years of experience). RSEC would love to present this award to 2 recipients in 2022!

Recipients will receive a monetary award from the Range Science Education Council and recognition by both the RSEC and SRM.

A copy of the guidelines and NEW SIMPLIFIED procedures for nominating a teacher for each of the RSEC-SRM Teaching Awards plus a copy of the Nomination Form can be found on the RSEC website: <http://rangesecc.org/> or obtained by contacting Paul Meiman, RSEC Awards Committee Chair (pmeiman@unr.edu).
